Short Tutorial on how to see new posts and mark them as read.

To make changes to your preference settings you will need to go to your profile. Select Edit Profile tab. Click on Show Advanced icon and additional options will come up.

Find forum tracking and from the scroll down menu choose Yes: Highlight new posts for me.

When you look at the discussions new column will appear to show how many unread messages you have.

If you click green checkmark by the Unread it will mark all posts as read inside of this forum.
If you click on 1 it will open the post and replies and you can mark each as read individually or if you click on green checkmark next to 1 it will mark as read all messages in this thread.